(a) if any provision of a law made by a District or Regional Council in Meghalaya with respect to any of the matters specified in clause (b) or clause (c) of sub-paragraph (1) of paragraph 3 of this Schedule is repugnant to any provision of a law made by the Legislature of the State of Assam with respect to any project declared by the Legislature of that State to be of State importance, then, the law made by the District Council or, as the case may be, the Regional Council, whether made before or after the law made by the Legislature of the State of Assam, shall, to the extent of the repugnancy, be void and the law made by the Legislature of the State of Assam shall prevail;

(b) if any provision of a law made by a District or Regional Council in Meghalaya with respect to any of the matters specified in clause (b) or clause (c) or clause (f) of sub-paragraph (1) of paragraph 3 of this Schedule is repugnant to any provision of a law made by the Legislature of Meghalaya with respect to that matter, then, the law made by the District Council or, as the case may be, the Regional Council, whether made before or after the law made by the Legislature of Meghalaya, shall, to the extent of repugnancy, be void and the law made by the Legislature of Meghalaya shall prevail.

(2) If it appears to two or more District Councils or Regional Councils in Meghalaya to be desirable that any of the matters with respect to which they have power to make laws under paragraph 3 of this Schedule should be regulated by the Legislature of Meghalaya by law, and if resolutions to that effect are passed by the said District Councils or Regional Councils, it shall be lawful for the Legislature of Meghalaya to pass an Act regulating that matter accordingly, and any Act so passed shall apply to the autonomous districts or regions concerned, and to any other autonomous district or region the District or Regional Council whereof adopts it afterwards by resolution passed in this behalf.

(3) Any Act passed by the Legislature of Meghalaya under sub-paragraph (2) of this paragraph may be amended or repealed by an Act of the Legislature of Meghalaya passed in like manner, but shall not, as respects any autonomous district or region to which it applies, be amended or repealed by any law made by the District or Regional Council thereof.

(4) The Governor may, with respect to any Act of the Legislature of the State of Assam, and the President may, with respect to any Act of Parliament, by public notification direct, that it shall not apply to Meghalaya, or shall apply thereto, or to any part thereof subject to such exceptions or modifications as he may specify in the notification, and any such direction may be so given as to have retrospective effect.

(5) The provisions of clause (b) of sub-paragraph (1) of paragraph 12 shall not apply to Meghalaya.”.

10. In sub-paragraph (1) of paragraph 15 of the Sixth Schedule, after the words “safety of India”, the words “or is likely to be prejudicial to public order” shall be inserted.

11. Paragraph 16 of the Sixth Schedule shall be re-numbered as sub-paragraph (1) of that paragraph and to that paragraph as so re-numbered, the following sub-paragraphs shall be added, namely:—

“(2) If at any time the Governor is satisfied that a situation has arisen in which the administration of an autonomous district or region cannot be carried on in accordance with the provisions of this Schedule, he may, by public notification, assume to himself all or any of the functions or powers vested in or exercisable by the District Council or, as the case may be, the Regional Council and declare that such functions or powers shall be exercisable by such person or authority as he may specify in this behalf, for a period not exceeding six months:

Provided that the Governor may by a further order or orders extend the operation of the initial order by a period not exceeding six months on each occasion.

(3) Every order made under sub-paragraph (2) of this paragraph with the reasons therefor shall be laid before the Legislature of the State and shall cease to operate at the expiration of thirty days from the date on which the State Legislature first sits after the issue of the order, unless, before the expiry of that period it has been approved by the State Legislature.”.

12. After paragraph 20 of the Sixth Schedule, the following paragraph shall be inserted, namely:—

‘20A. (1) In this Schedule,—

(a) “Governor”, in relation to Meghalaya, means the Governor of Assam acting on the aid and advice of the Council of Ministers for Meghalaya, except in so far as he is by or under this Schedule required to exercise his functions in his discretion or to exercise his powers under sub-paragraph (4) of paragraph 12A; Interpretation.

(b) “Meghalaya” means the autonomous State formed under article 244A.

(2) Subject to any express provision made in this behalf, the provisions of this Schedule shall, in their application to Meghalaya, have effect—

(i) as if references to the Government of Assam, State of Assam, State and Legislature of the State were references respectively to the Government of Meghalaya, the autonomous State of Meghalaya, Meghalaya and the Legislature of Meghalaya;

(ii) as if in paragraph 13, the words and figures “under article 202” had been omitted.’.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

Article 244A was added to the Constitution by the Constitution (Twenty-Second Amendment) Act, 1969 to enable Parliament to enact a law to give effect to the scheme for reorganisation of Assam by forming within the State of Assam an autonomous State comprising (whether wholly or in part) all or any of the tribal areas specified in Part A of the table appended to paragraph 20 of the Sixth Schedule. The present Bill has been brought forward in pursuance of that article and seeks to establish an autonomous State called Meghalaya within the State of Assam. As envisaged in the reorganisation scheme, Meghalaya will comprise the areas now forming part of the United Khasi-Jaintia Hills District as defined in the substantive part of paragraph 20(2) of the Sixth Schedule and the Garo Hills District. The Bill also provides for separate options to the Mikir Hills autonomous district and the North Cachar Hills autonomous district to become part of Meghalaya. The legislative powers of Meghalaya have been set out in the Second Schedule to the Bill and subject to the provisions of the Bill, the executive power of Meghalaya will extend to matters with respect to which the legislature of Meghalaya shall have power to make laws. The Bill makes detailed provisions regarding the constitution of the Legislative Assembly of Meghalaya, delimitation of constituencies, elections to the Assembly and its procedure, Council of Ministers for Meghalaya, administrative relations between the Governments of Assam and Meghalaya and between the Central Government and the Government of Meghalaya. Provision has also been made for transferring to Meghalaya such assets and liabilities of the Assam Government in the Meghalaya area as are relatable to matters which fall within the purview of the autonomous State.

2. Provision has also been made in the Bill for the constitution of a provisional Legislative Assembly for Meghalaya pending general elections to the Assembly. In order to dovetail the scheme of the Bill with the main provisions of the Constitution, the autonomous State will be treated as a State for certain provisions of the Constitution specified in clause 67 of the Bill.

3. As indicated in the reorganisation scheme, the Fourth Schedule to the Bill contains provisions for the amendment of the Sixth Schedule to the Constitution in order to improve the procedures of the District Councils and make them function efficiently.

4. The provisions of the Bill are further explained in the notes on clauses, wherever necessary.

Notes on clauses

Clause 3.—This clause provides for the formation of an autonomous State within the State of Assam to be known as Meghalaya. The United Khasi-Jaintia Hills district (Which comprises two autonomous districts called United Khasi-Jaintia Hills autonomous district and Jowai autonomous district) and the Garo Hills District as defined in paragraph 20 of the Sixth Schedule to the Constitution excluding part of the former transferred to the Mikir Hills autonomous district in 1951, will automatically form part of Meghalaya. The part of Shillong Municipality which formed part of the Khasi State of Myllem before the commencement of the Constitution and which now forms part of the United Khasi-Jaintia Hills autonomous district will be territorially part of Meghalaya but jurisdiction of Meghalaya in this area will be limited as provided in the proviso to clause 33(1). Rest of the Shillong Municipality and Cantonment which do not form part of the tribal areas will not form part of the autonomous State.

The north Cachar Hills autonomous district and the Mikir Hills autonomous district have been provided with an option to join Meghalaya. As soon as the proposed law is enacted, the District Councils of these two districts would be asked to indicate their choice and if the Council concerned expresses a desire by a two-thirds majority that the autonomous district shall form part of Meghalaya, the President will make a declaration to that effect and thereupon that district will also become a part of Meghalaya.

2. Clause 4 to 10.—These clauses define the extent of the executive power of Meghalaya and manner in which the power may be exercised. Provision has also been made for the constitution of a Council of Ministers which shall be collectively responsible to the Legislative Assembly of Meghalaya. Clause 8 contains a provision to enable the appointment of an Advocate-General for Meghalaya as and when the Government of Meghalaya deems fit to do so.

3. Clauses 11 to 17.—These clauses relate to the size of the Legislative Assembly of Meghalaya, delimitation of the Assembly constituencies and matters connected with elections to the Assembly. It has been provided that the number of elected members of the Assembly will be not less than 35 and not more than 55 so that the actual number could be determined in the light of the option to be exercised by the District Councils of north Cachar Hills autonomous district and Mikir Hills autonomous district. Provision has also been made for nominating not more than three persons to represent the interests of minority communities in Meghalaya if there is need for giving them representation in this manner. The work of delimiting the constituencies is proposed to be entrusted to the Election Commission. Clause 17 provides for the Representation of the People Act, 1951, being applied in relation to the elections to the Legislative Assembly as they apply in relation to elections to a State Legislative Assembly.

4. Clauses 18 to 49, and Second Schedule.—These clauses relate to duration of the Legislative Assembly, Speaker and Deputy Speaker, conduct of business, powers and privileges of members and their salaries and allowances, legislative powers and procedures, including procedure in financial matters. These provisions are generally modelled on the corresponding provisions of the Constitution relating to State Legislative Assemblies.

Clause 28 in particular provides that an individual shall not simultaneously be the member of the Meghalaya Assembly and also of the Legislative Assembly of Assam or Parliament.

Clause 33 defines the legislative powers of the legislature of Meghalaya. These powers are enumerated in the Second Schedule to the Bill, which is divided into three parts, namely, Part A, Part B and Part C. Part A contains the subjects in the State List in respect of which Meghalaya will have exclusive legislative powers. Part B contains subjects in the Concurrent List which even now come within the purview of the District Councils by virtue of paragraph 3(1) of the Sixth Schedule to the Constitution in respect of which similar exclusive powers will be available to Meghalaya. Part C contains subjects which will be concurrent to Assam and Meghalaya.

According to the reorganisation scheme Shillong will serve as the headquarters of both Assam and Meghalaya and Assam will have the same legislative and administrative control over the Cantonment and municipal areas of Shillong as at present. Under the Sixth Schedule to the Constitution the District Council has certain powers in respect of that part of the Shillong Municipality, which forms part of the tribal areas. The reorganisation scheme also provides that the District Council will continue to have these powers and will be under the control of Meghalaya. Proviso to clause 33(1), therefore ensures that the legislative powers of Meghalaya within the Shillong Municipality shall be limited to those of the District Council so that Assam's legislative and administrative control over the Shillong Municipality is not affected.

Clause 34 of the Bill provides for exemption of Union properties from the taxes imposed by Meghalaya or by any authority within the autonomous State and also for the exemption of properties of the Assam Government from similar taxation on reciprocal basis. According to entry 51 in Part A of the Second Schedule to the Bill, Meghalaya will have power to levy taxes on vehicles. However, in order to avoid double taxation on vehicles registered in Meghalaya transiting through rest of Assam and vice versa a provision has been made to exempt such vehicles from double taxation.

Clauses 35 and 36 spell out the effect of Central and Assam laws on Meghalaya laws in the concurrent field and the procedure for enacting special laws in this field for Meghalaya.

5. Clause 50.—This clause empowers the Governor to promulgate Ordinances during the recess of the Meghalaya Assembly and is generally modelled on article 213 of the Constitution.

6. Clauses 51 to 57.—These clauses relate to financial provisions and provide for separate Consolidated Fund, Contingency Fund and Public Account for Meghalaya.

Clause 55 provides for electricity tax and sales tax in the Meghalaya area outside the Shillong Municipality being collected by the Government of Meghalaya while the rates of taxes are to be determined by the Assam legislature. Assam has also got a first-point sales tax levy on certain luxury items. As such goods would suffer sales tax at the distribution centres in the plains like Gauhati before they move into Meghalaya for retail distribution, the autonomous State will not be able to collect any sales tax on these goods. It has, therefore, been provided that a portion of such tax collected by Assam should be payable to Meghalaya by Assam.

Clause 56 provides for the Central devolutions to Assam under the Finance Commission's recommendations being apportioned between Assam and the autonomous State in such proportion as the Central Government may determine. It has not been possible to specify in the law the actual proportion, because the actual territorial extent of Meghalaya would be known only after the District Councils of North Cachar Hills autonomous district and the Mikir Hills autonomous district have exercised their option. For the purpose of future awards of the Finance Commission, Meghalaya would be treated as a separate State and the Finance Commission would recommend the quantum of devolution separately for Assam and Meghalaya. The provision made in this clause will, therefore, apply only so far as the devolutions based on the Fifth Finance Commission's recommendations are concerned.

7. Clause 58 and Third Schedule.—This clause refers to apportionment of assets and liabilities. Detailed provisions in this behalf have been incorporated in the Third Schedule to the Bill. These generally follow the provisions made in other State Reorganisation laws with the modification that assets and liabilities to be transferred to Meghalaya would be those relatable to the legislative powers proposed to be conferred on the legislature of the autonomous State.

8. Clauses 59 to 61.—These clauses relate to administrative relations between Meghalaya and Assam and also Meghalaya and the Union. It has been provided that the autonomous State shall comply with laws made by Parliament, the laws made by the legislature of Assam and other laws in force within its territory. If any executive action taken by Meghalaya impedes or prejudices the exercise of executive power of the Union, the Government of India will have power to give directions to the Meghalaya Government. Similarly, if the actions of Meghalaya Government impede the exercise of the executive power of the Government of Assam, the Government of Assam will have powers to give directions. A provision has also been made in clause 61 for entrustment of executive functions of the Government of Assam to Meghalaya Government and vice versa.

9. Clause 62.—This clause makes a transitional provision for the setting up of a provisional Legislative Assembly pending the holding of the first general elections to the Meghalaya Assembly in accordance with the proposed law. The members of the provisional assembly will be elected by the members of the District Councils on the basis of proportional representation by means of the single transferrable vote. Elected members of each District Council will constitute an electoral college returning a specified number of members to the Assembly.

10. Clauses 63 to 73.—These clauses contain miscellaneous provisions, the more important of which are explained below:—

Clause 63.—This clause makes a provision enabling the Central Government to appoint a high level committee to advise the Governments of Assam and Meghalaya on matters of common interest with respect to Shillong and also such of the adjoining areas as may be treated as part of Shillong for this purpose by agreement between the two Governments.

Clause 65.—This clause provides for services of officers of Assam Cadre of the All-India Services and Class I Services of that State being made available to Meghalaya for specified periods and allocation of serving employees of Assam in lower cadres to Meghalaya for service under the autonomous State.

Clause 67.—To the extent legislative and executive powers are entrusted to Meghalaya, it will have to function as a State under the Constitution. It was, therefore, provided in article 244A added to the Constitution by the Constitution (Twenty-Second Amendment) Act, 1969, that a parliamentary law under that article may provide that any reference to a State in any article in the Constitution shall be construed as including a reference to the autonomous State. This clause enumerates the various articles for the purposes of which the autonomous State will be treated as a State.

Clause 68.—In the Meghalaya area not only the laws made by Parliament but also the laws made by Assam and Meghalaya would be in operation. This clause, therefore, provides that the executive power of the Government of Assam in relation to Meghalaya under article 298 shall also be subject to legislation enacted by the legislature of Meghalaya and that the executive power of Meghalaya under the same article shall also be subject to legislation enacted by the legislature of Assam.

Clause 69.—This clause provides for suspension of relevant provisions of the proposed law in the event of President's rule in Meghalaya.

Clause 70.—There are a number of Central laws particularly in the Concurrent field which require the State Governments to implement the laws. In actual working of the scheme of reorganisation it might become necessary to entrust functions under some of these laws to Meghalaya Government to ensure smooth administration. This clause, therefore, contains an enabling provision for the Central Government themselves to take over the executive authority in Meghalaya area under any such law as may be notified so that where necessary the powers could be delegated to the Meghalaya Government under article 258.

11. Clause 74 and Fourth Schedule.—This clause read with the Fourth Schedule to the Bill makes certain amendments in the Sixth Schedule to the Constitution. The important amendments to the Sixth Schedule proposed in the Fourth Schedule to the Bill are as follows:—

Paragraph 1.—A provision has been made in paragraph 1 of the Fourth Schedule to enable the Governor to alter the name of an autonomous district by notification.

Paragraph 2.—The maximum strength of the District Councils has been fixed at 30 out of whom the maximum number of nominated members would be 4. Provision has also been made for fixing a five-year term for the District Councils. At present, these provisions are contained in the rules of the District Councils concerned.

The rule relating to delimitation of constituencies, elections, etc., to the District Councils are at present made by the Councils themselves under paragraph 2(7) of the Sixth Schedule. It is proposed that such rules should be made with the approval of the Governor.

Paragraphs 4 and 5.—At present the village courts in the autonomous districts have jurisdiction only in respect of suits and cases in which both the parties are members of the Scheduled Tribes of the autonomous district concerned. The District Council or courts constituted by the District Council function as appellate court. More serious offences like those punishable with death or imprisonment for a term of not less than 5 years are outside the purview of these courts but the Governor is empowered to confer jurisdiction on these courts in regard to these matters as well on the condition that the Code of Criminal Procedure and the Code of Civil Procedure shall be followed in deciding such matters. This paragraph seeks to enable village level courts to function more or less like Nyaya Panchayats in the rest of the country subject to the procedural rules relating to these courts being made by the Assam Government or Meghalaya Government, as the case may be. It is intended that appeals from the village level courts should lie to regular courts. However, some preparatory work will be necessary to effect the change over and local conditions will have to be taken into account in fixing the time schedule for the change. It is, therefore, proposed to enforce these amendments from a date to be fixed in respect of each autonomous district.

Paragraph 6.—This paragraph seeks to enable the Governor to entrust additional functions particularly in the field of local development, to the District Councils and also make it clear that the District Council could set up its own road transport system.

Paragraph 7.—This paragraph makes provisions for improving the financial and accounting procedures of the District Councils.

Paragraph 9.—Under paragraph 12 of the Sixth Schedule the State laws relating to matters in respect of which the District Councils are empowered to legislate under paragraph 3 of the Sixth Schedule do not automatically apply to the autonomous districts. There is also a provision which enables the Governor to apply the State and Parliamentary laws to the autonomous districts with modifications or not to apply such laws at all. Having regard to the provisions made in the Bill the scheme of that paragraph is sought to be applied to Meghalaya in a modified form by adding a new paragraph 12A in the Sixth Schedule.

Paragraph 11.—Situations may arise in which a District Council may not be able to function in accordance with the provisions of the Sixth Schedule. This paragraph, therefore, seeks to make a provision to enable the Governor to take over any or all the functions of the District Council in such cases for a period not exceeding six months with power to extend the period from time to time. It has been provided that such orders shall be subject to approval by the Assam or Meghalaya legislature, as the case may be, within 30 days from the date of its first session after the issue of the order.

Paragraph 12.—This paragraph provides that in so far as Meghalaya is concerned, the Governor shall exercise his powers under the Sixth Schedule on the advice of the Council of the Ministers of Meghalaya.

12. Clause 75.—Under section 21A of the Reserve Bank of India Act, 1934, the Reserve Bank can enter into agreement with the Government of a State to transact Government business of that State. It may be necessary for Meghalaya also to enter into similar agreement. The particular section of the Reserve Bank of India Act is, therefore, sought to be amplified by including therein a reference to the autonomous State of Meghalaya.

13. Clause 76.—This clause provides for representation of Meghalaya in the Eastern Zonal Council.

FINANCIAL MEMORANDUM

Clauses 6(1) and 11(1) of the Bill provide for a Council of Ministers and Legislature for Meghalaya. Clauses 7(5), 23(5) and 32 relate to payment of salaries and allowances to the Ministers, Speaker and Deputy Speaker and members of the Legislative Assembly. Clause 25(1) provides for a separate secretarial staff for the Legislative Assembly. The expenditure on such salaries and allowances and other expenditure of an incidental nature such as additional staff for the Council of Ministers will depend on the decisions that may be taken by the Meghalaya Government when it comes into existence or laws which may be enacted by the Legislature of Meghalaya. It is not possible to make an estimate of such expenditure which will in any case be met from the Consolidated Fund of Meghalaya.

Clause 12(1) of the Bill seeks to empower the Election Commission to delimit the territorial constituencies for elections to the Legislative Assembly of Meghalaya. Clause 12(2) provides for appointment of not more than five associate members to assist the Election Commission in delimiting the constituencies. Clause 17 provides for elections to the Legislative Assembly of Meghalaya being held in accordance with the provisions of the Representation of the People Act, 1951. Clause 62(1) provides for the setting up of a Provisional Legislative Assembly. The delimitation of constituencies will involve an expenditure of about Rs. 25,000 on account of travelling allowances and other incidental expenditure. The elections to the Provisional Legislative Assembly may involve an expenditure of about Rs. 3,000 on account of travelling allowances, etc., of the members of the electoral colleges. The expenditure on both these items which will be of a non-recurring nature, will have to be met from the Consolidated Fund of India. The elections from territorial constituencies to the Meghalaya Legislative Assembly may involve a non-recurring expenditure of about Rs. 2 lakhs. As the elections would be held after the autonomous State of Meghalaya comes into existence the expenditure will, however, be met from the Consolidated Fund of Meghalaya. Clause 14(2) provides that the electoral roll of each Meghalaya constituency shall be so much of the electoral roll of the Assam Assembly constituency as relates to the area of that constituency covered by the Meghalaya constituency. The electoral rolls for all Assam Assembly constituencies are under revision at present and the revised rolls will be finally published in January, 1970. No additional expenditure will, therefore, be involved in the preparation of the electoral rolls of the Meghalaya Assembly constituencies.

Clause 58 of the Bill along with the Third Schedule relates to the apportionment of assets and liabilities of the State of Assam in so far as Meghalaya is concerned. The cash assets falling to the share of Meghalaya will accrue to its Consolidated Fund and the liabilities to be assumed by Meghalaya will have to be met from that Fund. No expenditure on this account also will be involved from the Consolidated Fund of India.

Clause 63 provides for a Special Committee for Shillong being constituted for advising the two Governments on matters of common interest with respect to Shillong. Expenditure, if any, in regard to this Committee will have to be met either by Government of Assam or partly by that Government and partly by Government of Meghalaya. Hence this provision also will involve no expenditure from the Consolidated Fund of India.

Under clause 67 Meghalaya is proposed to be treated as a State for the purposes of articles 272, 275 and 282. By virtue of the order to be made under clause 56, a part of Assam's share of Union Duties of Excise under article 272 will have to be paid to Meghalaya out of the Consolidated Fund of India. Similarly, by virtue of the order under that clause, a part of the grants-in-aid payable to Assam under article 275(1) will have to be paid to Meghalaya from the Consolidated Fund of India. The precise quantum of such devolution and grants to Meghalaya cannot, however, be estimated at this stage as the amount would depend on the areas which would ultimately form part of the autonomous State. Hence, provision has been made in clause 56 to determine by a Presidential order the proportion in which the grants-in-aid and Central taxes payable to Assam are to be allocated between Assam and Meghalaya. Assam is also receiving plan grants and certain non-plan grants under article 282. So much of these grants as are relatable to subjects transferred to Meghalaya will have to be diverted to the autonomous State. The precise amount of such grants to Meghalaya cannot be estimated at this stage as this would depend on factors like the size of the plan for Meghalaya. However, to the extent resources are transferred from Assam to Meghalaya, there will be no extra expenditure from the Consolidated Fund of India.

Clause 76 provides for representation being given to Meghalaya on the Eastern Zonal Council. This will involve some expenditure on the travelling allowances of the members of the Council representing Meghalaya to attend meetings of the Council. The expenditure will, however, be met from the Consolidated Fund of Meghalaya and there will be no expenditure on this account from the Consolidated Fund of India.

Clause 67 provides for Meghalaya being treated as a State for purposes of articles 149, 150 and 151 of the Constitution and paragraph 7 of the Fourth Schedule provides for the audit of the accounts of the District Councils by the Comptroller and Auditor-General. These arrangements may require the strengthening of the establishment of the office of the Accountant General, Assam and Nagaland, and the expenditure on this account is estimated at Rs. 30,000 per annum recurring and Rs. 5,000 non-recurring.

MEMORANDUM REGARDING DELEGATED LEGISLATION

Clause 9(3) of the Bill empowers the Governor to make rules for the more convenient transaction of business of the Government of Meghalaya and for allocation among ministers of the said business.

Clauses 7(5), 23(5) and 32 would enable the Governor to determine the salaries and allowances of Ministers, Speaker and Deputy Speaker and members of the Legislative Assembly until laws in that behalf are enacted.

Clause 25(3) of the Bill empowers the Governor to make, after consultation with the Speaker of the Legislative Assembly, rules regulating the recruitment and conditions of service of persons appointed to the secretarial staff of the Legislative Assembly, pending enactment of a law on the subject.

Clause 47 of the Bill empowers the Legislative Assembly of Meghalaya to make rules for regulating its procedure and conduct of business. It further provides that till such rules are made, the rules of procedure and standing orders applicable to the Legislative Assembly of Assam shall apply to the Legislative Assembly of Meghalaya subject to any modifications or adaptations which may be made by the Governor.

Clause 54 provides for rules regarding the custody, etc., of the Consolidated Fund and Contingency Fund of Meghalaya being made by the Governor pending the enactment of legislation in this behalf.

Clause 56 empowers the President to determine by order the proportion in which the grants-in-aid under article 275(1) of the Constitution, and taxes on income, duties of excise, estate duty, etc., shall be payable to the State of Assam and the autonomous State of Meghalaya. It is not possible to specify in the Bill the actual proportion because the actual territorial extent of Meghalaya would be known only after the District Councils of North Cachar Hills autonomous district and the Mikir Hills autonomous district have exercised their option. The order of the President will however be laid before Parliament.

Clause 66(2) empowers the appropriate Government to adapt existing laws in order to facilitate their application in relation to the autonomous State of Meghalaya. This power will be available for a period of two years from the appointed day. Clause 17 empowers the President to direct, after consultation with the Election Commission, the modifications subject to which the Representation of the People Act, 1951, would apply to elections to the Legislative Assembly of Meghalaya. Clause 55(3) empowers the Central Government to direct that the laws with respect to taxes on the consumption or sale of electricity and sale or purchase of goods shall have effect subject to specified exceptions and modifications for the purpose of enabling the Government of Meghalaya to collect those taxes. The adaptations, exceptions and modifications referred to above cannot affect the substance of the enactments.

Clause 77 makes the usual provision regarding power to make rules. It empowers the Central Government to make rules to give effect to the provisions of the Bill. The rules will have to be laid before both Houses of Parliament.

In the Fourth Schedule to the Bill (which seeks to amend the Sixth Schedule to the Constitution), it is proposed to amend paragraph 2 of the Sixth Schedule so as to provide that the rules relating to delimitation of constituencies, elections, etc., to the District Councils which are at present made by the Councils themselves, should be made with the approval of the Governor [paragraph 2(iv)]. It is further proposed to amend paragraph 4 of the Sixth Schedule to enable village level courts to function more or less like Nyaya Panchayats in the rest of the country subject to the procedural rules relating to these courts being made by the Assam Government or the Meghalaya Government, as the case may be. It is intended that appeals from the village level courts should lie to regular courts [paragraph 4(iii)]. It is also proposed to amend paragraph 7 of the Sixth Schedule so as to take power for the Governor to make rules for the management of the District Fund or the Regional Fund, procedure for payment of money into it, etc. [paragraph 7]. It is also proposed to amend paragraph 6 of the Sixth Schedule to empower the District Council to make regulations, with the previous approval of the Governor, for the regulation of primary schools, dispensaries, etc., established by them [paragraph 6].

It will be seen that the matter mentioned above are matters of detail or pertain to procedure and as such the delegation of legislative powers is of a normal nature.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

The North-Eastern Region of our country as a whole occupies an important and vital position which calls for an integrated and well co-ordinated approach towards development as also security of the region. In order to further this basic objective, it is proposed to provide for the setting up of a high level Council consisting of representatives of the States and other administrative units in the North-Eastern Region. The main task of the Council would be to identify development schemes which would be of importance to the region as a whole, review their implementation by the Governments of the participating units, and also recommend measures for effecting co-ordination. The Council would also make recommendations regarding matters of common interest to them. It is also proposed to provide for the setting up of a committee of the Council which could review from time to time the measures taken by the States represented thereon for maintenance of security and public order in the region and recommend further measures necessary in this regard.

PRESIDENT'S RECOMMENDATION UNDER ARTICLE 117 OF THE CONSTITUTION OF INDIA

[Copy of letter No. 24/19/68-SR, dated the 10th December, 1969 from Shri Y. B. Chavan, Minister of Home Affairs to the Secretary, Lok Sabha.]

The President having been informed of the subject matter of the Bill to provide for the setting up of a Council for the north-eastern areas of India to be called the North-Eastern Council and for matters connected therewith, recommends the consideration of the Bill in the Lok Sabha under article 117(3) of the Constitution.

FINANCIAL MEMORANDUM

The Bill provides for the formation of the North-Eastern Council and clause 8 provides for the secretariat staff for the Council consisting of a Secretary, a Planning Adviser and such other officers and employees as the Central Government may by order determine. Sub-clause (3) of clause 8 provides that the administrative expenses of the office of the proposed North-Eastern Council including salaries and allowances payable to the members of the Secretarial staff shall be borne by the Central Government out of moneys provided by Parliament for the purpose. It is proposed that the Secretary and the Planning Adviser should be senior officers. The Planning Adviser will have, to begin with, three experts and the necessary supporting staff. The office of the Secretary, at the initial stage, will have a junior officer and a small establishment to assist him. The size of the secretariat of the Council will have to be determined in the light of experience and the actual needs. The set up of the secretariat as at present envisaged will involve approximately a recurring expenditure of Rs. 3,24,000 per annum and non-recurring expenditure of Rs. 57,000 on account of purchase of furniture, staff-car and office equipment, etc.

2. Clause 6 of the Bill provides that the proposed North-Eastern Council shall have as advisers one person nominated by the Planning Commission and another nominated by the Ministry of Finance. As the headquarters of the Council is expected to be at Shillong, the Advisers nominated under the clause will have to undertake journeys for attending meetings of the Council. The estimated expenditure on account of travelling allowance of officers will be about Rs. 8,000 per annum.

MEMORANDUM REGARDING DELEGATED LEGISLATION

Clause 5(1) of the Bill empowers the proposed North-Eastern Council to lay down with the approval of the Central Government the rules of procedure in regard to transaction of business at the meetings of the Council. Clause 7(4) of the Bill empowers the Council to lay down with the approval of the Central Government the rules of procedure which shall be observed by the Co-ordination Committee of the Council in regard to transaction of business at the meetings of the Committee. As the matters in respect of which the Council may lay down rules under the afore-mentioned provisions of the Bill are matters of procedure, the delegation of legislative power is of a normal character.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

The power to requisition and to acquire immovable properties for a public purpose was first provided in the Defence of India Act, 1939 which came to end on the 30th September, 1946. It was, however, found necessary to retain some of the properties for a longer period in the occupation of the Government. Therefore, it was provided in the Requisitioned Land (Continuance of Powers) Act, 1947 that any property which had been requisitioned under the Defence of India Act, 1939 would continue to remain under requisition. Subsequently, the Requisitioning and Acquisition of Immovable Property Act, 1952 was enacted to confer powers on the Government in this regard. Section 24 of the Act provided that any property which was subject to requisition under the Act of 1947 shall be deemed to have been requisitioned under the Requisitioning and Acquisition of Immovable Property Act, 1952. This Act was initially to remain in force for six years and was to expire on the 13th March, 1958. The life of the Act was, however, extended from time to time and it will now remain in force up to the 13th March, 1970.

2. Chapter VI of the Defence of India Act, 1962 provided for the requisitioning and acquisition of immovable property. The Act ceased to have effect with effect from the 10th July, 1968, namely six months after Proclamation of Emergency which was revoked with effect from the 10th January, 1968. As there were numerous properties requisitioned under the Defence of India Act, 1962, it was not found possible either to release them or to acquire them by the payment of compensation. The Requisitioning and Acquisition of Immovable Property (Amendment) Act, 1968, was, therefore, enacted to provide that the properties requisitioned under the Defence of India Act, 1962 shall be deemed to have been requisitioned under the Requisitioning and Acquisition of Immovable Property Act, 1952. Many properties which have been requisitioned under the Defence of India Act, 1962 and the Requisitioning and Acquisition of Immovable Property Act, 1952 are in the possession of the Ministry of Defence and also of some other Ministries. Although the Government is expeditiously implementing the policy of acquiring or de-requisitioning the requisitioned properties, a large number which are expected to be needed even after the 13th March, 1970 for public purposes will not have been acquired by then. On many of these properties, valuable constructions of a permanent nature connected with national defence or the conduct of military operations or other important public purpose have been put up. It will not be expedient to remove these structures for the purpose of release of the properties to the owners pending a decision to acquire or release the properties. In addition, it is felt that there will always be need for requisitioning or acquiring immovable properties for public purposes. The Law Commission of India had recommended, in their Tenth Report, that the law of requisitioning should be embodied in a permanent code. It is accordingly proposed that the Requisitioning and Acquisition of Immovable Property Act, 1952, should be made a permanent piece of legislation.

3. Compensation once fixed under the Act cannot be revised during the entire period of the requisitioning, as it is based on the rent that the property would have fetched if it had been leased out on the date of the requisitioning. It is felt that it will be fair to the owners if the amount of compensation is reviewed quinquennially with reference to the circumstances prevailing at the time of the review.

4. The Law Commission of India also recommended that no property should be kept under requisition for a period longer than five years and if, before the expiry of that period, the Government considered it necessary to acquire the property, they should be at liberty to do so. If, however, they decided not to acquire the property, it would not be proper to keep the property indefinitely under requisition. The period of five years is, however, considered inadequate for the purpose and it is proposed that the maximum period of requisitioning should be 10 years from the date of commencement of the proposed legislation in the case of properties already under requisition and 10 years from the date on which the possession is taken in the case of properties which may be requisitioned after such commencement.

5. The Bill seeks to achieve the above objects.

NEW DELHI;

K. K. SHAH.

The 2nd December, 1969.

PRESIDENT'S RECOMMENDATION UNDER ARTICLE 117 OF THE CONSTITUTION OF INDIA

[Copy of letter No. 19012(3)/68-Pol.IV, dated the 8th December, 1969 from Shri K. K. Shah, Minister of Health and Family Planning and Works, Housing and Urban Development to the Secretary, Lok Sabha.]

The President having been informed about the subject matter of the Requisitioning and Acquisition of Immovable Property (Amendment) Bill, 1969, has recommended to the House the consideration of the Bill under article 117(3) of the Constitution.

FINANCIAL MEMORANDUM

Clause 2 of the Bill seeks to make the principal Act a permanent one. This by itself would not necessarily involve any additional expenditure from the Consolidated Fund of India. The number of properties under requisition varies from time to time and as requisitioned properties can be acquired it is difficult to estimate the actual expenditure for any future period. At the moment the annual expenditure (towards payment of compensation, etc.) under the Act is about Rupees ninety-seven lakhs.

2. Clause 3 of the Bill provides that the maximum period of requisitioning should be ten years from the date of enactment of the Bill in the case of properties already under requisition and ten years from the date on which possession is taken in the case of properties which may be requisitioned after that date unless such property is acquired under section 7 within the period of ten years aforesaid. The acquisition of immovable properties within the prescribed period will involve a non-recurring expenditure from the Consolidated Fund of India. In case all the properties now under requisition are to be acquired under section 7 of the principal Act, the total non-recurring expenditure will be approximately Rs. 33 crores. This expenditure will be spread over a number of years. Moreover, it is not intended to acquire all the requisitioned properties and some of the properties will be de-requisitioned as and when possible.

3. Clause 4(b) of the Bill seeks to insert a new sub-section (2A) in section 8 of the principal Act which provides that the amount of compensation shall be reviewed quinquennially. In accordance with the provisions of new sub-section (2A), the amount of compensation payable for properties under requisition before and after the commencement of the legislation will have to be revised in the manner indicated in sub-section (2B). This provision will involve additional expenditure of a recurring nature. It is estimated that during 1970-71, such additional expenditure will approximately be rupees one crore. There would ordinarily be gradual reduction of this amount in subsequent years due to acquisition or de-requisitioning of the properties now under requisition.

Secretary.
